BSA Hatboro Troop 3

Hatboro, Pennsylvania

Scoutmaster's Message

Welcome to Hatboro Troop 3. This troop has been chartered to Hatboro Baptist Church since 1949. Although many changes have occurred in the methods of operation since that time, the guiding principles of scouting remain the same. The term "Boy Scouting" contains the key elements of our program:

"Boy" – Troop events are planned and conducted by scouts

"Outing" – Outdoor activities constitute the main focus of the troop.

Every scouting activity moves boys toward the three basic aims of character development, citizenship training and mental and physical fitness. Troop 3 is a boy run troop that emphasizes these basic scouting aims through development of leadership skills, service to others, adventure and respect of the outdoors. We encourage all scouts to respect each other and seek responsibility both within the troop and in their everyday lives. We are disciplined in all that we do; in our meetings, in our use of the outdoors, and in our service to others. We are committed to our goal of helping young boys develop into responsible young men.

This guide was prepared to provide parents with a general idea of how the troop is organized and how the program is conducted. We take pride in the fact that we adhere to the policies and procedures of the Boy Scouts of America, however, the precise way the troop functions is a direct product of the boys' and leaders' ideas, talents and energies.

Please do not hesitate to contact the troop leadership or me with any questions or concerns you might have concerning the troop, its operation or problems that may arise.

It is my sincere hope, that both you and your sons will have a fantastic boy scouting experience in Hatboro Troop 3.

Boy Scouts of America Methods

The Boy Scouts of America (BSA) use fundamental methods to achieve scouting's aims of encouraging character development, citizenship and mental and physical fitness. Troop 3 uses these eight methods in the organization of our troop:

-  Scouting's Principles
-  The Patrol Method
-  Outdoor Experiences
-  Advancement
-  Adult Interaction
-  Personal Growth
-  Leadership Development
-  The Uniform

The ideals of Scouting are spelled out in the Scout Oath, Scout Law, Scout Motto, Scout Slogan and Outdoor Code. The scouts and leaders are expected to conform to these morals at all times during scout activities as well as in our everyday lives. The youth are encouraged to measure themselves against ideals and try to improve themselves by setting personal goals for advancement that include these principles.

The patrol method allows the boys to function as a team and helps the boys develop a sense of pride and identity within the troop. It also gives them the satisfaction of accepting and fulfilling group responsibilities.

Outdoor experiences are the backbone of Troop 3's program. Boys join Scouts for fun and adventure. The outdoors is a place that is well suited for the development of the ideals of scouting.

Scouting provides a series of surmountable obstacles the scout may overcome by establishing goals and achieving them. When they meet their advancement goals, they are positively recognized. The badges they earn, however, are not rewards for what they have done but rather are symbols of what they are capable of doing. They are also symbols of the internal rewards of self-confidence, self-esteem and self-reliance that they obtain through advancement.

Boys learn a great deal by watching their adult leaders. Troop leadership may be anyone over the age of 18 who is willing to give of their time and talents and believe in the basic aims and tenets of scouting. Association with adults of good character is important at this stage of a young man's development.

Scout age boys experience both physical and emotional growth at this stage in their lives. Scouting offers them opportunities to channel this change into productive endeavors and to learn their responsibilities to their community.

Leadership is a skill that can only be learned by doing it. Through leadership experiences, boys learn planning, organization, and decision-making skills. In scouting, boys can learn to become effective leaders.

The scout uniform helps to make the scout troop visible and should be a source of pride to the scout. It also reinforces the fact that all BSA members are equal to one another. People who see a scout in uniform know that they can expect someone of good character who is prepared to help those around him. Troop 3 emphasizes the proper wearing of the uniform in order to show the respect that the uniform deserves.

By use of these eight methods, Troop 3 encourages character development, citizenship and mental and physical fitness, thereby helping the boys develop into responsible young men.

Troop Operations

Introduction

Many of you reading this Parent's Guide may be familiar with Cub Scouts but may be unfamiliar with Boy Scouts. There are a few similarities between the two programs, but not many. Cub scouting has dens and packs, whereas Boy Scouting has patrols and troops. The Cub Scout program is adult led and home centered; the Cubs work on advancement with their parents and the parents sign off approval of requirements. The Boy Scout program is boy led and troop centered; the boys work on their own toward advancement and the more advanced scouts and/or adult leaders are responsible for approval of advancement requirements.

While the heart of the troop program is the boys and the leadership they develop, the backbone of the Troop, just as in Cub Scouts, is the adult volunteer willing to give of their time and their talents to carry out a variety of tasks designed to complement each other and provide the resources necessary for successful troop operations. The roles and responsibilities of the adult leaders in the troop, however, are very different than their counterparts in a Cub Scout pack.

Although the scouting program is designed to be run as much as possible by the older, more experienced scouts in the troop; adult leadership is still a vital necessity. Experience has shown that a troop program will only be as interesting and dynamic as the adult leadership.

The following sections will attempt to familiarize you with the Boy Scout Troop and how it functions.

General Overview

Troop meetings are held on Monday nights all year long. During the school year they are held in Fellowship Hall on the second floor of Hatboro Baptist Church. During the summer months, we move many of our meetings outdoors. Meetings begin promptly at 7:30 PM and end promptly at 9:00 PM. Troop meetings typically focus on planning for camping trips, developing scout skills or advancing in rank. We always try to include some type of game into troop meetings.

Troop 3's program is focused on camping. An Annual Plan is followed, which lays out all of the camping trips and many of the community service projects for the program year. The program year begins in September and consists of 10 weekend camping trips throughout the year and a weeklong summer camp in July or August. There is typically no weekend trip in the month of December due to holiday obligations.

Troop Organization

The troop is led by the Senior Patrol Leader (SPL) and Assistant Senior Patrol Leader (ASPL), and the Scouts are divided into smaller units within the troop, called a patrol. Patrols are groups of 8 to 12 boys who work together in and out of the troop meetings. They employ the patrol method by sitting together at troop meetings and camping together on weekend outings. Each patrol has a Patrol Leader and Assistant Patrol Leader.

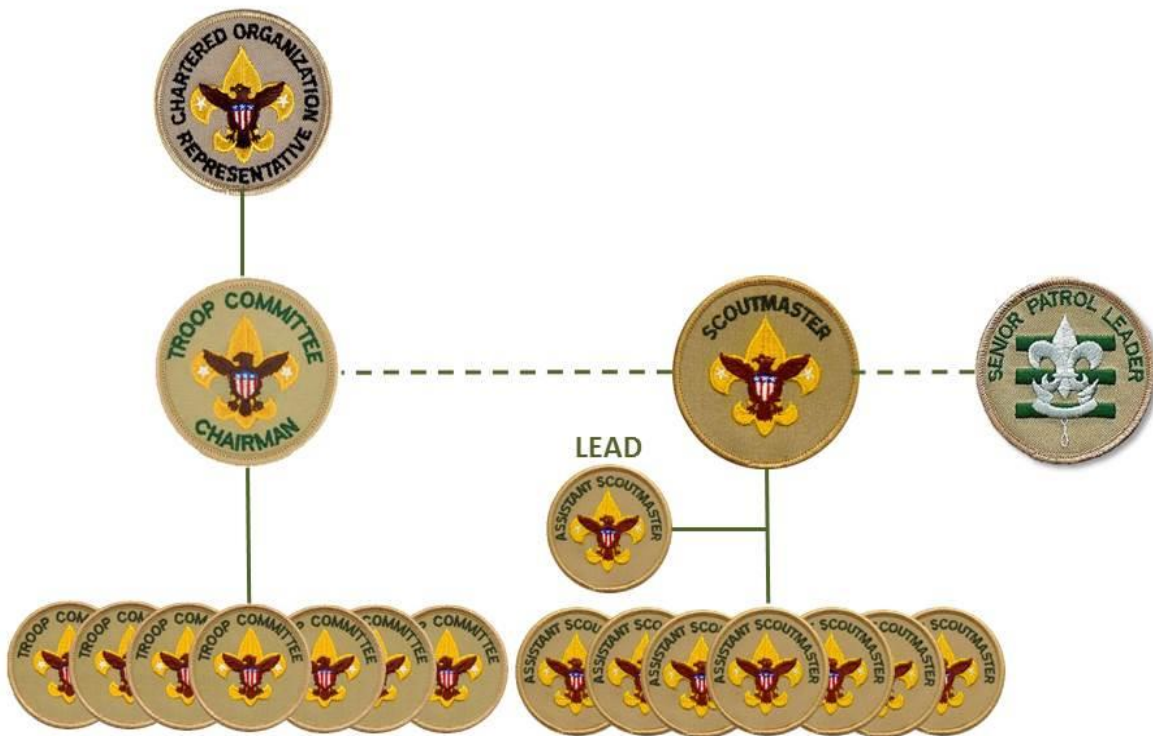

In May of each year, the troop's youth leadership is reorganized. A new SPL is elected and the troop is organized into new patrols. The SPL, with the advice and consent of the Scoutmaster, selects all other troop officers, such as the Assistant Senior Patrol Leader, Scribe, Quartermaster, etc. The SPL and patrol leaders of each patrol make up the Troop Leaders Council known as the "TLC". The troop Scribe is also a member who keeps the notes of the TLC meetings. The TLC meets monthly to discuss any issues with the previous month's activities and to plan details for the upcoming month's activities that are established in the Annual Plan. The Scoutmaster acts as the advisor to the TLC.

In May and June, the TLC develops the Annual Plan for the coming program year. The SPL presents the plan to the troop committee for comment and review. The final approved plan is published in July.

In addition to the TLC, there is a separate troop committee and staff comprised of adult volunteers. The troop committee and staff are set of adults that have accepted responsibility for various roles within the troop. They include such areas as equipment and finance. The troop committee chair is the head of the troop committee. The committee oversees the operation of the troop and, provides feedback to the Scoutmaster. The committee is responsible for selecting the Scoutmaster and can remove the Scoutmaster from office if necessary.

The adult leader of the troop is the Scoutmaster. He is responsible for the day to day operation of the troop. He has a number of Assistant Scoutmasters. Hatboro Troop 3 has one Lead Assistant Scoutmaster who takes over in the absence of the scoutmaster. Other Assistant Scoutmasters have specific duties including Life to Eagle, New Scout Patrol, Patrol Advisors etc.

For trips in excess of 72 hours in duration, all adults must complete the above, have Part C of the BSA Medical Form signed by a medical practitioner, and register with the BSA.

Parents are reminded that the Scouts function as patrols, and will eat and sleep with their peers. On overnight outings, unregistered adults will not sleep in a tent with their Scout, they will sleep in a tent as part of the adult patrol, with the following exception: Webelos who are joining Troop 3 on a camping trip must be accompanied by a parent/guardian and must tent with their parent/guardian.

Requests to attend outings must be made in advance to the trip coordinator and approved by the Scoutmaster. Siblings who are not registered Scouts in Troop 3 are not permitted to attend camping trips. In accordance with BSA guidelines, all adult tents and rooms in cabins must be single gender. The trip coordinator and the Scoutmaster will have the final say regarding a parent/guardian attending a camping trip based on available space restrictions and accommodations at the camping site. Scouts will receive preference on trips where space is limited.

Parents/guardians attending camping trips or other outings are reminded that the scouting program is designed to foster growth and independence through exposure to challenging experiences. Your Scout will benefit the most from the program when they are allowed to make mistakes and learn and grow from those mistakes. If your Scout needs help with a task or has questions, they are to ask another Scout. All adults on trips are there for safety and guidance, but it is ultimately the Scouts' responsibility to reach and accomplish goals.

Advancement

Rank

There are a total of seven ranks in the Boy Scout Program. They are;

-  Scout – This is the joining rank and is presented at investiture
-  Tenderfoot
-  2nd Class
-  1st Class
-  Star
-  Life
-  Eagle

To attain each rank, the scout must demonstrate some combination of knowledge, skill, and service to the community. Once each requirement is completed; it is the scout's responsibility to seek out the ASM to sign off requirements in his handbook. Finally, the scout will have a Scoutmaster's Conference followed by a Board of Review. The Board of Review is not a re-test, simply a discussion about the scout's experience in scouting. Once the Board of Review is complete, the scout will receive his new badge of rank.

Merit Badges

In order to advance beyond the rank of 1st Class, and to fully participate in the scouting program, merit badges must be earned. Scouts can begin working on merit badges at any time. The steps in earning a merit badge are:

-  The scout selects merit badges. A list of merit badges can be found in the Scout Handbook or at www.meritbadge.org.
-  The scout asks the Scoutmaster or Advancement Chairman for a Merit Badge Application, a 3-Part card known as a “Blue Card”. It includes the Application, Applicant’s Record, and Counselor’s Record portions, and is to be kept intact until the merit badge is complete.
-  The scout locates a merit badge counselor by asking the Scoutmaster, Advancement Chairman, or Merit Badge Dean.
-  The scout contacts the merit badge counselor.
-  The scout can usually obtain a merit badge book from the troop library by simply asking the troop Librarian. Merit badge books can also be purchased at scout shops and on-line. When a merit badge book is no longer needed, consider donating to the troop library.
-  Merit badge workbooks are available for free download at www.meritbadge.org. Note that the workbooks only contain requirements, and do NOT contain all of the necessary information found in the merit badge books.
-  Once the scout has completed all the requirements, the counselor signs the blue card and detaches the “Counselor’s Record” portion.
-  It is the scout’s responsibility to submit the remaining two parts of the Blue Card to the Advancement Chairman. The Advancement Chairman will detach the “Application” portion to retain for the Troop’s records, and return the “Applicant’s Record” portion to the scout.
-  Once the merit badge application is processed (usually in about two weeks), the scout will be recognized and receive the badge during a Troop Meeting.

It is recommended that scouts keep all of their completed Blue Cards together in a safe place. The signed Blue Card is only proof of completing a merit badge, in case Troop records are lost or inaccurate.

If a scout completes some but not all requirements of a merit badge, a “Partial” can be issued. The individual requirements are initialed by the counselor, and the whole 3-part Blue Card is returned to the scout. It is the scout’s responsibility to keep the Partial Blue Card safe until work on the merit badge resumes. Note this is the only record of completed requirements, and usually cannot be recreated.

Scoutmaster’s Conference

The Scoutmaster’s Conference is an important part of the advancement process. This is a time when individual scouts and the Scoutmaster can meet and have a discussion about their individual advancement. It is at this time that advancement goals can be set. Scouts wishing to advance must schedule a time with the Scoutmaster.

Advancement is not the only time that a Scoutmaster's Conference could be held. Scoutmaster's Conferences could also be held for scouts who are not advancing or scouts that are having discipline problems. These would be on an as needed basis.

Board of Review

As noted above, the final step in advancement for any rank is the Board of Review. This review is not a retest, but a chance for the troop to check in with the individual scout about his scouting experience. The Board of Review will be set up by the troop Board of Review coordinator after a scout tells him that he is ready for a board. Eagle Scout Boards of review are different and are handled at the District Level.

Life to Eagle

The Life to Eagle process can be difficult. There are many details that the scout must pay attention to during this time. The troop Life to Eagle Coordinator will meet many times with the individual scout to be sure that the paperwork is being completed correctly. An Eagle Scout project coach will also be appointed to be sure that the scouts Eagle project meets the standards for a proper Eagle Scout project.

Camping

Camping is the backbone of the scouting program. Hatboro Troop 3 runs a year round program and therefore we go on some type of trip every month. The only exception is the month of December. Typically, the December event is a one-day event. Unless otherwise told, the patrol method is in effect on every trip, therefore the patrol will cook, eat and sleep as a group. Boys will be expected to learn to:

-  Pitch their own tents
-  Cook patrol meals
-  Clean patrol dishes
-  Work as a team

Boy leaders and or adult leaders will demonstrate how to perform the above tasks, however, scouts will be expected to do it themselves. Parents will not be permitted to do it for them.

Camping trips can include but will not be limited to canoeing, backpacking, cycling, shooting sports, orienteering, pioneering, and spelunking, fishing and boating.

All scouts are expected to wear their Class A uniform when traveling to and from camping trips. The Class B uniform is acceptable while at the trip.

Because the cost of Summer Camp is the most expensive trip of the year, Camperships are available from the troop. If you have a need for a campership, please see the Troop Committee Chairman or the Scoutmaster. If we travel to the Cradle of Liberty Council Camp, Resica Falls Scout Reservation, camperships may also be available at the Council level.

It is the policy of Hatboro Troop 3 that electronics are not permitted on troop camping trips. Electronics include cell phones or any electronic game. They may be brought with scouts while traveling, but while in camp, they will remain in the vehicle.

Scouts are responsible for their personal camping gear at all times. The troop will provide tents and cooking gear as needed depending on the trip. Personal camping gear lists are available at the Hatboro Troop 3 website at www.hatborotroop3.org.

Discipline

Scouts are expected to demonstrate the Scout Oath and Scout Law towards each other and their leaders. In the event that a scout is unruly, disruptive, disrespectful to troop leadership or conducts himself in a manner that is against the principles of the Scout Oath or Scout Law or is unsafe to himself or others, the appropriate consequences will be assigned by the Scoutmaster (or his designee). This consequence will vary depending on the severity of the problem and will follow these guidelines.

-  Talking with the scout about how his actions are in violation of the principles of the Scout Oath and Scout Law and how he can be a better example to the scouting community.
-  Contacting the scout's parents and asking them to come and pick him up from an activity.

At no time will a scout be disciplined in front of other scouts. Individual scouts will be counseled in compliance within the guidelines of the BSA Youth Protection policy.

Health and Safety

The health and safety of all of our youth members is the primary concern of all adult leadership. Troop 3 will follow all health and safety guidelines as published in the current issue of the BSA publication GUIDE TO SAFE SCOUTING. These include but are not limited to:

-  All riders will wear seatbelts while vehicles they are riding in are in motion
-  Completed health forms will be taken on every camping trip
-  The troop will have a first aid kit on every camping trip

-  The safe swim defense plan will be in effect for every swimming activity
-  The safety afloat plan will be in effect for every float trip
-  A tour plan will be filed for every trip as required
-  The scoutmaster or his designee is responsible for all health and safety aspects of the troop program. Any scout or adult may bring a concern to the attention of the scoutmaster.
-  The scoutmaster has the authority and responsibility to cancel an event due to unsafe conditions.
-  Any adult leader may remove a scout from an activity if the adult feels that the activity is not safe and appropriate for the boy.

All Scouts and Leaders are required to have physical exam on an annual basis. The most recent version of the Annual Health and Medical Record form can be found on the Council's website at www.colbsa.org. The Annual Health and Medical Record is a 4-part form. Parts A & B must be completed by the Scout and a Scout's parent. Part C and D must signed by the Scout's physician or examiner. Parts A & B are required for the Scout to participate in any weekend outing. Part C is mandatory for Summer Camp. Part D is only required if the Scout is going to participate in a high adventure activity, such as Philmont. The completed health forms are kept by the troop medical officer.
